THE SENATE STRIKES FROM THE LEGISLATIVE BILL THE CLAUSE REORGANIZING THE DISTRICTS. Washington, June 25.—When the Senate re-surned consideration of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill to-day, Mr. Back spoke in opposition to the amendment proposed by the Scuate Committee on Appropriations, striking out the clause consolidating and reorganizing the customs collection districts. Mr. Beck read from the annual report of the Secretary of the Treasury favoring the reduction, and added that it was rarely that a public officer made recommendation that would out down the number of Government officials. By the clause in the bill we could get rid, Mr. Beck said, of fifty collection districts, of which twenty-two pay nothing and thirty-two do not pay

Mr. Altison replied that the clause referred to was new legislation. It substantially repealed fifty pages of the revised statutes by a provision in at appropriation bill. If the subject were thoroughly understood, he said, this idea of consolidation would not be entertained by either house of Con-No Secretary of the Treasury could have the knowledge of local interests necessary to warrant placing in his mere discretion the making and unmaking of ports of entry and delivery. And if the consolidation were made, economy would not follow. Fixed salaries would in some places take the place of fees. No one man, no matter how great his discretion, should have absolute control of every State in this Union, in respect of so important a subject. Were we to establish an autocracy in this country with reference to the great functions of internal and external commerce ?

Mr. Hawley emphatically supported the committee's recommendation. The commerce of Connecticut would be severely injured by the plan proposed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Hale said that it was attempted, by a clause reserted in an appropriation bill, to obliterate a great system elaborated with extreme care ninety years ago. Under the proposed consolidation sinuggling would grow to enormous proportions.

Mr. Dawes did not think the President of the United States was a better law maker than Congress. Our Government was founded on the idea that the many knew more than the few. He thought the customs districts of the country should be reorganized, but doubted whether the number could be wisely reduced. Commerce developes local necessities, with which members of Congress and Senators must be better acquainted than the President or the Secretary of the Ireasury. than the President or the Secretary of the I reasury. The clause directing the foorganization of these districts was an authorization to the President to revolutionize the whole commercial scheme of the country—and this in three mouths and in the beat of a Presidential campaign. He had as much confidence as any Senator in the present Executive—he had no doubt that that officer would enfeavor to rise above all unworthy considerations, but be could not rise above the imputation—he would be charged with making improper use of his power.

Messers, Sewell, Hawley, Jones, of Florida, and Lapham supported the committee's proposition.

Messrs. Sewell. Hawley, Jones, of Fiorida, and Lapham supported the committee's proposition.

Mr. Beck said the keeping up of these districts that did not pay expenses was merely to support a lot of election bummers; that was the meaning of it. The employes were kept because they contributed to the success of the party in power. He had not wished to say this on the floor of the Sente, but he felt obliged to say it. The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Beck added, admitted that fact.

Mr. Jones, of Florida, said the establishments of customs districts was not based on the idea of self-Mr. Jones, of Florida, said the establishments of customs districts was not based on the idea of self-maintenance. Like post offices, they were estab-lished for the general good, the fact that each in-dividual district did not pay was no argument for its abolition.

CHALMERS AT LAST GETS HIS SEAT. LIS EIGHT SO PLAIN THAT EVEN THIS HOUSE AD-

Washington, June 25 .- When the House decided to-day to consider the contested election case of Chalmers against Manning, Mr. Cook, of Iowa, who had drawn up the majority report in favor of Mr. Chalmers, said that he had done so in haste, and that there was one thing in the report to which, in justice to himself, Mr. Chaimers, and to the Committee on Elections, he wished to call attention. The report set forth that " a large part of the evidence is calculated to show that the contest out was deceifful in his politics, treacherous to his political friends, and unworthy of so high an office." The word "ealeulated" was used imadvertently; it should be "inevidence which was wholly immaterial to the question to the consideration of which the House must limit itself. It was claimed that Mr. Chalmers secured the Republican nomination through the influence of Federal officers; but even granting that to be so, there was nothing in the evidence to warrant the House in saying that the election should be set aside on the ground of Federal interference. He discussed the question of law as to whether Mr. Chalmers was disqualified from election by reason of holding the effice of Special Assistant District Attorney within his term as member of Congress. Mr. Chalmers. the committee found, had been employed for a special purpose, and that prior to the time of the convening of Congress the matter for which he was employed had been disposed of. Practically, his connection with the office of District-Attorney had coused, and he was not disqualified from taking his seat in Congress.

Mr. Davis, of Missouri, supported the uninority resolutions, which declare "that the means and methods employed by the Federal Administration in securing the election of James R. Chalmers as a member of the House of Representatives of the XLViHth Congress are, appears by the majority report and the evidence on file, repurnant to and subversive of true representative government, and the said election is, therefore, declared void; that said Chalmers having accepted the office of Special Assistant United States District-Attoriory for the Northern and Southern Districts of the State of Misassippi since the said election, and holding said office up to and beyond February 1, 1884, is ineligible to a seat in this Congress, and a vacancy exists in the 11d Congressional District of the State of Mississippi."

Mississippi."

Mr. Elliott, of Pennsylvania, asserted that there was not a shred of evidence for the opponents of Chaimers to Post upon.

Mr. Bennett, of North Carolins, maintained that Mr. Chaimers had never ceased his employment as Special Attorney, and was, therefore, inclinate to a seat in the House. He addressed himself to the question of Foderal intervention in Mr. Chaimer's election, and esserted that the shadow of executive influence had been used to break down the spirit of theory which yet lingars in the States. It had been resorted to in Virgisia to advance the ambilious projects of one who sat on the other nide of the Capitol. The House could not afford to seat a man who had turned his back upon his own race and gone over to rise nemics, and who had covered himself gone over to his nemics, and who had covered himself gone over the insurance of Mr. Chaimers's right.

Mr. Valentice, of Nobrasia, and Mr. Turner, of Georgia, Spoke in advocacy of Mr. Chaimers's right.

Mr. Cook demanded the previous question, and the vote recurred on the second resolution presented by the mimority. It was lost—36 to 198. The first mimority resolution was also lost—56 to 161—and the majority cosolution was also lost—56 to 161—and the majority cosolution was also lost—56 to 161—and the majority cosolution was also lost—56 to 161—and the majority resolution and the folione. Mr. Bennett, of North Carolina, maintained that Mr.

There were tuly five hundred used in the half. The meeting was opened by Alderman Abernethy, who said that the object of the meeting was two-fold—to open the new rooms and ratify the nomination of Blame and Logan. At the mention of the cannidates' names a sheut went up from the assemblace, and cheer followed onser for three or four minutes. Mayor Z. K. Pangborn was the first speaker. Speeches were also made by Comasollor J. Flavel Mebbe and others, and the meeting adjourned at a late hour.

About 300 persons were present and about 200 signed the roll. Many others who were present will sim at the next meeting. They were prevented from doing so on Tuesday mgist by the eager crowds around the book and the lateness of the hour.

HEARTY APPROVAL OF COLORED MEN. There was a large gathering of colored Reublicans at the meeting of their Central Club, at No. 156 Sixth-ave., last evening. Several earnest specohes it favor of the Republican nominations at Chicago were made. The speeches of John Deyo, of Albany, and Captain Samuel McKinley, of South Carolina, who was a deegate to Chicago, were enthusiastically received. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the nominations of James G. Biaine for President, and of John A. Logian for Vine-President, have the unanimous indersement of the Colored Central Republican Club of the State of New-York, believing that as standard-bearers none could be found more fit to represent the ideas and sentiments of the American people. OUTDOOR SPORTS.

TO-DAY'S RACING AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY.

PROMISE OF EXCELLENT CONTESTS-AN INTEREST-

ING MATCH. The card for the Coney Island Jockey Club contests to-day offers seven races, with generally smaller fields; but the probable starters, in the majority of races, are of high quality, and there is every reason to expect well-contested finishes. In the first race, of a mile, the gallant War Eagle is to meet Breeze, Delilah, alic, Tolu, Fareweil, and others of proved speed. If the track is in good condition, it is probable that a fast mile will be recorded. The race for the two-yearolds did not fill well. There are only four entries, and among them Richmond is of so superior a class that the result seems certain. In the dash of 14 miles the publie will see their favorite, Miss Woodford. Aranza is in this race, and the possibilities of that mare are infinite, while the probabilities of her victory are limited. In the 142 miles race Barnes will meet Referee, Trafaland Chanticleer, all of whom have wen recently. Euclid is in this contest, and as Aranza and Trafalgar have surprised their friends, possibly something may be expected from him, particularly as the rogue's badge, the hood, has been removed from his handsome head.

The match between Lord Abererombic's recent pur chase, the Lerna colt, and "the flower that bloometh" in the garden of E. Berry Wull, for $2,000 a side, has in the garden of E. Berry Wall, for $2,0.00 a side, has evoked much excitement. Old experienced turfmen are of opinion that the nosegay ought to win. When the Lerna colt beat Richmond, last Saturday, in the selling race for two-year-olds, Richmond carried 120 pounds, the same weight that the "flower" is to carry. But Richmond is a two-year-old, and Wallflower a four-year-old. Wallflower is carrying only two pounds more than weight for age. He ought then to outran the young-ter casily, and still be an animal of no marked merit. FIRST RACE. HANDICAP, PURSE $500, 1 MILE.

LAWN TENNIS AT ORANGE.

Although the clouds threatened rain all yeserday afternoon scarcely sufficient drops fell to lay the dust on some of the lawn tennis courts, still called "turf" by courtesy at Orange, N. J. The weather was in fact all that could be desired for the tournament, with a gray say and little wind. In the first round Mr. Munroe played Mr. Thorn, of Yale, winning the first set by 6.5, but losing the second and third sets by 6.5, 6.2. The play in the first two sets was even.

A. C. Clapo played A. B. Malcolmson losing the first set

The most interesting rames played in the second round were those between '21' Conover and Mr. Greenhough in drives, which won'd have kept any ordinary player on his base lines But Mr. Greenhough on the first opportunity ran up, and a scries of volley rallies passed in which the ball was returned from bat to bat, without striking the ground, almost too rapidly for the eye te foliow. Some of these provoked great applaces. The match fell to Mr. Conover, 6.3, 6.5.
